Dakota Dunes River Update 11

The rivers continue to recede and will continue that trend until middle of next week. According to the National Weather Service, we will see rising waters towards the end of next week. Early projections show this event to be less than what we saw last weekend but still significant. With that in mind, we will keep the proactive measures in place until this next crest comes through.

North Sioux City is having a public meeting at 6 pm tonight at the North Sioux City Community Center. With the projections being so early and current estimates within the protection we already have installed, we will not be having a public meeting at this time. We will continue to update you on expected conditions via these updates. We will have a public meeting should conditions warrant.
